

ACCREDIBLE CREDENTIAL FRAMEWORK

Activity E2

Identification of Framework Entry Point

Description: Use of a diagnostic tool to assess the nature of the customer's use of credentials and their entry point to the framework

Inputs: Diagnostic Questionnaire / Tool

Outputs: Credential Framework Entry Point

The tool you've just completed is a diagnostic tool used to navigate and access the existing Accredible Credential Framework.

The Accredible Credential Framework contains a rich and extensive variety of assets developed to educate and guide both new credential issuers and existing credential issuers.

The tool has two parts:

- A diagnostic questionnaire, which you've just completed – a set of questions that identify your profile as a credential user
- A tailored list of activities relevant to your profile

A list of credential-related activities has been developed as the basis of your roadmap to help you achieve success with your digital credentialing.

In your roadmap, you'll find activities, assets, tools, best practices, and guides to walk you through each step of becoming a successful issuer and creating credentials that have impact, aligned to your business goals.

The value of this framework is in the quality and applicability of its components—the Accredible Credential Architecture is robust and context-specific, developed from the experience of numerous successful credential programs.

From here, you'll have an easy-to-follow checklist that can be shared internally to create a project plan.

Whether you're issuing for the first time, looking to level up, or want to take your initiatives from good to great, then follow your custom roadmap to be on your way to success.
